After submitting the form the user is taken to another page to see the form data. The issue I have is that the 'submit' button of the form takes the user to the next page and doesn't leave the form. Instead I would like to have the 'submit' button take the user to another php page that has the php code for the form data and then have a link the user can click on to take the user back to the first form page. How would I do this? I can't seem to find a straight forward example of this anywhere online. A: Use a redirect: header('Location: ', $_SERVER['HTTP_REFERER']); // not always reliable which will cause the user to go to that url in the browser. From there you can then submit the form as usual. A 3-year-old boy who had been playing in the street Saturday night was struck and killed after running into the path of an oncoming northbound vehicle in Toronto's Junction neighbourhood. Toronto police said an unidentified 63-year-old man driving a 2008 to 2012 Chevrolet Lumina stopped at a red light at the intersection of Wilson and Albion
